

A PLUGGABLE SERVICE DELIVERY PLATFORM

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention discloses a pluggable service delivery platform for supporting many devices to many services e-business application, comprising device-platform interface, service-platform interface and platform kernel section. The service delivery platform of this invention is flexible and scalable platform to easily "plug" a new device and a new service, and the different parts of the platform are componentized. Any one of the components can be replaced by the 3rd party's products, providing they abide certain open interface like Java Servlet, LDAP, etc.